

OASIS Cited for 5th Moving Violation

ENSEMBLE PLEADS “NO CONTEST”

Wausau—Audiences served Oasis Theater Ensemble its 5th consecutive moving violation for “moving” drama to new levels of integrity with its Sept. 2009 production of The Crucible. The Wausau group of veteran performers and production staff is dedicated to presenting quality theatrical literature that challenges the mind, touches the heart, and tickles the sense of humor. Oasis has a long history of moving violations, dating back to its formation in 2007.

The ensemble’s premiere presentation, Tartuffe earned Oasis its first violation for moving audiences to laughter, along with a well deserved HUBBA (Hilarious Undergarment Bit Brilliantly Accomplished) for the infamous “table scene.” Since then, audiences have deemed it fitting to cite all Oasis productions, including The Glass

Menagerie, Blithe Spirit, and Steel Magnolias for everything from moving audiences to tears, to moving them to a deeper understanding and appreciation of the power of quality dramatic production and performance. An Oasis representative stated in a recent interview that the ensemble has no intention of changing its unique offering of classic dramatic literature or its ensemble format which allows participants to develop skills in all areas of theater production. On the contrary, the group hopes this series of moving violations will leave audiences no recourse but to cite the group with an ENCORE (Entertainment that is Noteworthy, Consistently Outstanding, and Relentlessly Engaging)

GIVE OASIS THE “ENCORE” IT DESERVES

Your help is needed in order for Oasis to maintain its high standard of quality theater production. While our audience has grown with each production, ticket sales alone can not support all of the costs involved with purchasing scripts, costumes, set construction, make-up, publicity and theater rental.

Oasis is also striving to build its ensemble both onstage and offstage. We need volunteers in the areas of fundraising, marketing, publicity, board leadership and development, theater “tech”, and acting.

In addition to your attendance at our productions, we also rely on your tax-deductable financial support. A year end contribution will insure our 2010 season continues “moving” toward more quality classical drama for the Wausau Area Community. Donations may be sent to:
